“In the presence of the Almighty, we gather as one community, O Lord, our God, source of all grace and mercy.

Bless this assembly with Your love and compassion, Fill our hearts with the light of Your wisdom, O Heavenly Father.

In the spirit of unity, we invoke Your Holy Spirit to descend upon us, Inspire our thoughts, words, and actions, that they may reflect Your divine will.

Grant us strength to bear witness to Your love in our daily lives, And the grace to extend that love to all those we encounter.

We acknowledge Your presence among us, Blessing us with Your peace and filling our hearts with the joy of faith.

We offer this invocation in the name of the Father, the Son, and the Holy Spirit.
Amen.”

House Resolution No. 179.

A resolution to declare January 28-February 3, 2024, as Catholic Schools Week in the state of Michigan.

Whereas, There are 49,858 students attending 210 Catholic elementary and high schools throughout our great state; and

Whereas, The Constitution of Michigan states that “Religion, morality and knowledge being necessary to good government and the happiness of mankind, schools and the means of education shall forever be encouraged”; and

Whereas, Catholic schools educate many students who are non-Catholic and many students who are economically disadvantaged, as a good education remains the single best way out of poverty; and

By unanimous consent the House considered House Resolution No. 181 out of numerical order.

Reps. Steckloff and Haadsma offered the following resolution:

House Resolution No. 181.

A resolution to affirm this chamber’s commitment to supporting an extension of the Affordable Connectivity Program, recognizing that this program provides Michigan citizens statewide with access to affordable broadband services.

Whereas, Congress has directed the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) to administer the Affordable Connectivity Program (ACP), which is a successor program to the Emergency Broadband Benefit, a program that helped almost nine million households nationwide afford internet access during the COVID-19 pandemic. Under the provisions of the ACP, eligible households may receive up to thirty dollars per month toward internet service. For households on qualifying tribal lands, this benefit may increase to seventy-five dollars per month. The ACP also provides that eligible households may receive a one-time discount of up to one hundred dollars to purchase a laptop, desktop computer, or tablet from participating providers; and

Whereas, Where broadband internet access is available, the ACP allows subscribers to afford internet speeds and devices sufficient for key online activities, such as at-home learning, health care, banking, and public services. Where broadband access is not available, the ACP incentivizes the deployment of new broadband infrastructure; and

Whereas, The FCC recently announced that, due to a lack of additional funding provided for the ACP, it would begin the process of terminating the program. Over 900,000 households within the State of Michigan are currently enrolled in the ACP and are at risk of losing affordable access to internet services in 2024 if Congress does not fund an extension of the program. The ACP is a critical program for Michigan citizens and, along with other sources of state funding, is a vital means to build and improve broadband infrastructure, provide internet devices to those who lack them, and promote the adoption of modern technology among our least-connected citizens. All these factors demonstrate that the ACP is an essential catalyst for Michigan's economic growth, workforce development, and innovation. Allowing this program to end would be a great disservice to Michigianians who rely on the program to access vital online services and resources; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the House of Representatives, That we affirm this chamber's commitment to supporting an extension of the Affordable Connectivity Program, recognizing that this program provides Michigan citizens statewide with access to affordable broadband services; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted to the President of the United States, the President of the United States Senate, the Speaker of the United States House of Representatives, and the Michigan congressional delegation.

The resolution was referred to the Committee on Government Operations.

Reps. Thompson, Johnsen, St. Germaine, Smit, Outman, DeBoer, Roth, Bruck, Meerman, Schmaltz, Rigas and Alexander offered the following resolution:

House Resolution No. 180.

A resolution to declare February 2024 as National Teen Dating Violence Awareness and Prevention Month in the state of Michigan.

Whereas, Bringing awareness to the consequences of intimate partner violence and supporting the development of healthy, respectful, and nonviolent relationships has the potential to decrease teen dating violence both now and in future generations; and

Whereas, According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (in this resolution referred to as the "CDC"), teen dating violence includes 4 types of behavior: physical violence, sexual violence, psychological aggression, and stalking; and

Whereas, While dating violence, domestic violence, sexual violence, and stalking affect individuals regardless of age, teens are especially vulnerable; and

Whereas, According to the 2019 Youth Risk Behavior Survey, almost half (44.3 percent) of teens experienced at least one type of violence and 1 in 7 (15.6 percent) of teens experienced at least two types of violence; and

Whereas, One in nine female and one in thirty-six male high school students report having experienced sexual dating violence in the last year; and

Whereas, The CDC reported that nearly one in eleven female teens and about one in fifteen male teens reported experiencing physical dating violence in the last year; and

Whereas, According to a National Intimate Partner and Sexual Violence Survey of the CDC, 80 percent of female rape victims experienced their first rape before the age of 25, and almost half experienced their first rape before the age of 18; and

Whereas, According to the same National Intimate Partner and Sexual Violence Survey, 26 percent of women and 15 percent of men who were victims of contact sexual violence, physical violence, or stalking by an intimate partner in their lifetime first experienced these or other forms of violence by that partner before the age of 18; and

Whereas, Approximately 35 percent of women who were raped as minors were also raped as adults; and

Whereas, According to the National Institute of Justice and Statistics, technology-facilitated abuse is also a growing social malady contributing to increased psychological aggression among teens; and

Whereas, Technology-facilitated abuse includes, but is not limited to, cyber extortion, cyberstalking, and doxing; and

Whereas, According to the Cyberbullying Research Center, over one quarter (28.1 percent) of teens who had been in a romantic relationship at some point in the previous year said they had been the victim of at least one form of digital dating abuse; and

Whereas, The CDC indicates that community factors, such as neighborhood collective efficacy, and coordination of resources and services among community agencies, may reduce an individual's risk of perpetrating intimate partner violence; and

Whereas, Primary prevention programs are a key part of addressing teen dating violence, and many successful examples of such programs include education, community outreach, and social marketing campaigns that are culturally appropriate; and

Whereas, Evidence-based programs such as the "Coaching Boys Into Men" program have demonstrated that teaching adolescent men how to have healthy and nonviolent relationships may increase positive bystander behavior and prevent men from becoming perpetrators of teen dating violence; and

Whereas, The Violence Against Women Act of 1994, as amended by the Violence Against Women Reauthorization Act of 2013 and the Consolidated Appropriations Act, 2022, includes the SMART Teen Dating Violence Awareness and Prevention Act, which improves the coordination and effectiveness of programs to address abusive youth relationships; and

Whereas, Skilled assessment and intervention programs are necessary for youth victims and abusers; and
Whereas, Educating middle school students and their parents about the importance of building healthy relationships in their lives and preventing teen dating violence is key to deterring abuse before it begins; and

Whereas, Bringing awareness and support to this critical issue will also work to save lives, as teens who have experienced dating violence are more than twice as likely as others to consider suicide; and

Whereas, Developing healthy relationship practices and standards in youth under the age of 18 can be critical to eliminating sexual violence and other forms of intimate partner violence. The importance of these efforts will benefit schools, communities, and families regardless of socioeconomic status, race, and sex; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the House of Representatives, That the members of this legislative body declare February 2024 as National Teen Dating Violence Awareness and Prevention Month. We strongly support addressing this preventable public health crisis that can negatively impact teens and youth in all parts of the United States and here in Michigan.

The resolution was referred to the Committee on Government Operations.

Rep. Aiyash moved that Rule 71 be suspended and the resolution be considered at this time.
The motion prevailed, 3/5 of the members present voting therefor.

Reps. Farhat and Aiyash offered the following resolution:

House Resolution No. 182.

A resolution to condemn the Wall Street Journal opinion piece, “Welcome to Dearborn, America’s Jihad Capital,” as racist and Islamophobic.

Whereas, On February 2nd, 2024, the Wall Street Journal published a biased, fear-mongering opinion piece titled “Welcome to Dearborn, America’s Jihad Capital.” The author, Steven Stalinsky, writes that “[m]any current or onetime Dearborn residents have been convicted of terror-related crimes in recent years,” stoking fear and paranoia about Michiganders in the minds of his readers. Stalinsky paints a picture of protesters “with kaffiyehs covering their faces” and Muslim leaders delivering “antisemitic sermons,” pitting Jews and Muslims against each other despite the fact that members of both faiths have been subjected to persecution for centuries. The author marvels at the fact that this could occur, not in the Middle East, but in a suburb of Detroit. Referring to “[w]hat’s happening in Dearborn” as a potential “national-security issue” and imploring “[c]ounterterrorism agencies at all levels [to] pay close attention” only makes Dearborn residents even more vulnerable to bias, prejudice, and unfair scrutiny. Arab-Americans have a long-standing history of serving our nation, both at home and abroad, and implying that the members of this community are a threat to America is an insult. The hateful rhetoric used in this article could lead to hate violence, posing a threat to the residents of Dearborn and to Arabs and Muslims across the state of Michigan; and

Whereas, These statements come at a time when hatred and division are already on the rise. Nationwide, FBI statistics show that the number of single-bias incidents increased from 10,530 in 2021 to 11,288 in 2022. The proportion of hate crimes motivated by religious bias has also increased in recent years, both in Michigan and across the country. Most of the religiously motivated hate crimes committed in Michigan are grounded in anti-Jewish or anti-Islamic sentiments. According to the Arab American Anti-Discrimination Committee, since October 7, 2023, there have been many incidents of hate-motivated violence targeting Arabs, Palestinians, and Muslims, including the fatal stabbing of a six-year-old Palestinian American boy and the shooting of three Palestinian American students; and

Whereas, Media outlets have a collective responsibility to help build trust among different peoples, and to refuse to give voice to those who would perpetuate stereotypes and prejudice. Our leaders have recognized this. Following the publication of Stalinsky’s column, the President wrote, “We must continue to condemn hate in all forms.” U.S. Senator Peters called the article “anti-Arab, anti-Muslim & wrong,” and the Governor stated, “Islamophobia and all forms of hate have no place in Michigan, or anywhere. Period.” The Mayor of Dearborn reported “an alarming increase in bigoted and Islamophobic rhetoric online targeting the city of Dearborn,” and he has called on the Wall Street Journal to do better. The Wall Street Journal has failed in its journalistic responsibility and must be held accountable for any harm inflicted directly by the article or by those it radicalizes; and

Whereas, The City of Dearborn is a thriving community and a beacon for those seeking to realize the American Dream. Thousands of immigrants have flocked to this area over the years, in part to take advantage of the numerous jobs created by the Ford Motor Company. The birthplace of Henry Ford, Dearborn is home to Ford World Headquarters; a Research and Engineering Center, which is undergoing a ten-year transformation into a massive campus where designers, engineers, and developers can work side-by-side; and the Rouge factory complex, which has become a model of 21st-century sustainable design. A true cultural melting pot, Dearborn has become the fastest-growing city in the state of Michigan. Dearborn is a city that stands against hatred in all its forms, whether it is anti-Arab, anti-Palestinian, anti-Muslim, or anti-Jewish; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the House of Representatives, That we condemn the Wall Street Journal opinion piece, "Welcome to Dearborn, America's Jihad Capital," as racist and Islamophobic; and be it further

Resolved, That we call on the Wall Street Journal to retract this article and issue a public apology to the City of Dearborn.

The resolution was referred to the Committee on Government Operations.
