CONTENT

The bills would amend Chapter VII (Registration Fees) of the Michigan Vehicle Code to prohibit personalized license plates from bearing specified content, such as obscenities, explicit imagery, drug and alcohol use, illegality, and hatred or violence.

The bills are tie-barred.

Upon registering a motor vehicle, the registrant may apply for a special registration plate. Section 803b of the Code allows the Secretary of State (SOS) to issue one personalized vehicle registration plate to be used on a vehicle instead of a standard issued plate, and Section 803m allows the SOS to issue two special organization vehicle registration plates for the same use.¹ The bill would prohibit a personalized plate and a special organization plate from bearing a configuration of letters, numbers, or letters and numbers that conflicted with the regular license plate numbering system or was any of the following:

- Carrying a profane or obscene connotation.
- A swear word or the depiction of a swear word.
- Sexually-explicit or graphic.
- Excretory-related.
- Used to describe an intimate body part or genitals.
- Used to describe alcohol, alcohol use, drugs, drug culture, or drug use.
- Used to describe an illegal activity or illegal substance.
- Used to substantially interfere with law enforcement's plate identification.
- Used to disparage or promote or condone hate or violence directed at any type of business, group, or persons.
- A foreign word that was substantially similar to a configuration not permitted above.
